“Two courses were open to this mother, that of religion, and that of preserving her seven sons for a time, as the tyrant had promised. She loved religion more, religion that preserves them for eternal life according to God’s promise.”

(4 Maccabees 15:2-3)

“The tyrant Anti’ochus, sitting in state with his counselors on a certain high place, and with his armed soldiers standing about him, ordered the guards to seize each and every Hebrew and to compel them to eat pork and food sacrificed to idols. If any were not willing to eat defiling food, they were to be broken on the wheel and killed.”

(4 Maccabees 5:1-3)

“For when the tyrant was conspicuously defeated in his first attempt, being unable to compel an aged man to eat defiling foods, then in violent rage he commanded that others of the Hebrew captives be brought, and that any who ate defiling food should be freed after eating, but if any were to refuse, these should be tortured even more cruelly.”

(4 Maccabees 8:2)

“The mother of the seven boys, more than any other mother, loved her children. In seven pregnancies she had implanted in herself tender love toward them,”

(4 Maccabees 15:6)

“This mother, who saw them tortured and burned one by one, because of religion did not change her attitude. She watched the flesh of her children consumed by fire, their toes and fingers scattered on the ground, and the flesh of the head to the chin exposed like masks. O mother, tried now by more bitter pains than even the birth-pangs you suffered for them! O woman, who alone gave birth to such complete devotion! When the first-born breathed his last it did not turn you aside, nor when the second in torments looked at you piteously, nor when the third expired; nor did you weep when you looked at the eyes of each one in his tortures gazing boldly at the same agonies, and saw in their nostrils signs of the approach of death. 20 When you saw the flesh of children burned upon the flesh of other children, severed hands upon hands, scalped heads upon heads, and corpses fallen on other corpses and when you saw the place filled with many spectators of the torturings, you did not shed tears. Neither the melodies of sirens nor the songs of swans attract the attention of their hearers as did the voices of the children in torture calling to their mother. How great and how many torments the mother then suffered as her sons were tortured on the wheel and with the hot irons! But devout reason, giving her heart a man’s courage in the very midst of her emotions, strengthened her to disregard her temporal love for her children. Although she witnessed the destruction of seven children and the ingenious and various rackings, this noble mother disregarded all these because of faith in God.

(4 Maccabees 15:14-24)

“By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and he that had received the promises offered up his only begotten son,”

(Hebrews 11:17)

“Of whom it was said, That in Isaac shall thy seed be called:”

(Hebrews 11:18)

“Accounting that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead; from whence also he received him in a figure.”

(Hebrews 11:19)

“I have spread out my hands all the day unto a rebellious people, which walketh in a way that was not good, after their own thoughts;”
(Isaiah 65:2)

“A people that provoketh me to anger continually to my face; that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense upon altars of brick;”
(Isaiah 65:3)

“For by fire and by his sword will the LORD plead with all flesh: and the slain of the LORD shall be many.”
(Isaiah 66:16)

“They that sanctify themselves, and purify themselves in the gardens behind one tree in the midst, eating swine's flesh, and the abomination, and the mouse, shall be consumed together, saith the LORD.”
(Isaiah 66:17)

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live:”
(John 11:25)

“And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?”
(John 11:26)
